

Buffalo Ridge Shopping List Suggestions:

Life's Abundance All Life's Stages Grain Free dog food- Order this food for optimal nutrition and our health guarantee- ordered through our site

Life's Abundance Wellness Supplements- for optimal nutrition ordered through our site

42" Black Wire Crate with grow with me dividers for easier crate training

36" or larger Exercise Pen for easier potty training if you have no fenced yard until pup is older and leash broken

Food/Water Dishes- stainless steel cleans and sanitizes best

Small & Medium sized collars- they grow out of the small quickly!

Non-retractable leash for best control

Walking Harness if desired

Comb/Brush/De-matting tool

Hypoallergenic Shampoo/Conditioner

Life's Abundance dog treats- various yummy selections ordered through our site

ID Tag with your Phone Number & pups name engraved on it

Tall Divider Gate to block off entry to other rooms- start their space small, like porch sized, until potty training is well established

Training pads to place in the kennel for accidents while crate training. If you live in an apartment or gone a lot throughout the day you may want to look into the grassy type pads they now sell for easiest transition into going potty outside. These would need to be placed in the porch space, not the kennel itself. Use the absorbent training pads for inside the kennel.

Benebone Real Flavor Dental Chew Toy- peanut butter flavor is a hit

Dog Bed- I don't recommend using these in the crate until the crate training is well established. Use disposable training pads until so.

Various Chew Toys- tennis balls, ropes, bones, etc.

Kong- fill with peanut butter when the pup is much older so as not to disrupt the digestive issues of young pups

Dog Toothbrush/Toothpaste or see your vet for a recommended cleaning schedule

*I also recommend studying up on crate/potty training. There are a lot of youtube videos and helpful information on the internet. We have a helpful link on our FAQ as well.
